The quick-fire comedy improvisation show

A highly interactive and creative "plug-in" to your conference or client event

HOW THE SHOW WORKS IN A CORPORATE SETTING

INSTANT WIT is a completely improvised comedy show shaped entirely around audience suggestions. So, whoever the audience - be they in a theatre, corporate, conference, private party or educational setting - it is always that particular audience that shapes the show. We are therefore very adept at shaping & theming the show to reflect the nature of each particular audience or client event. Our rapport with the audience is always good humoured - we make it your show without embarrassing anybody. We've been performing the show for conferences & for corporate entertainment for the last 15 years.

INSTANT WIT is therefore a very well-established tried and tested format. The show is highly flexible and can be used in a variety of different contexts which include pre-dinner, after-dinner, or conference entertainment - either as a break between speakers or as a dedicated slot.

INSTANT WIT as a show can range in length from anything between 20 to 90 minutes depending on client need. As an after-dinner entertainment, we normally recommend a 45-minute set.

INSTANT WIT also works extremely well in a training and team building context. Why not consider a comedy improvisation Masterclass to go alongside the show? These sessions are carefully structured to meet the needs of the client. They are highly creative - always surprising - and invariably provoke a great deal of laughter.

INSTANT WIT workshops are directed by Chris Grimes, an experienced drama-based trainer & facilitator. Click here for more information: <http://bit.ly/9gHxCJ>

CLIENT TESTIMONIALS:

MARKS & SPENCER: YOUR M&S

"The evening's entertainment was exceptional. Instant Wit captured the culture of our business so well that we could not do anything else but laugh at ourselves! I wouldn't hesitate in recommending them to any organisation committed to the training & development of its people."

John Barton, Commercial Manager, Marks & Spencer

GLAXOSMITHKLINE:

"A huge thank you to Instant Wit. It never ceased to amaze me how you could improvise on virtually any topic the audience threw at you. Your pace and energy kept the audience with you throughout the show and contributed to a thoroughly enjoyable evening. I would have no hesitation in booking you again."

Chris Shepherd, GSK

LE CREUSET:

"Thanks to Instant Wit for the most unexpected and superb conclusion to a very successful conference! So quick-witted, so sharp and so very, very funny you had us on the edge of hysteria! We are still quoting from the many sketches you did so brilliantly and many people have asked me to book you again-soon!"

Louise Portnall, Le Creuset
